Selectmen's Meeting

AUGUST 9th, 1983 - by Virginia Arral

RECEIVED GOOD NEWS

"I think they do a fantastic job", said Selectmen Chairman John N. DeCosta, in referring to the Mattapoisett School Committee.

This compliment was in response to the committee's announcment that it has certified the sum of $23,618 be returned to the town from the 1982-1983 fiscal year budget as non-expended funds.

A letter of appreciation will be sent to the committee congratulating it for holding down the budget.

REAFFIRMED its policy relating to the payment of EMT training. The town will not pay for a person's initial certification cost, but will pay for hours for recertification. Selectman Frank Suzan added the proviso that the person be recommended by the police chief or department head.

WILL REQUEST the State Department of Public Works (DPW) do a speed study on Acushnet Road. It was noted the newly surfaced section has no speed limit signs nor does it have dividing lines on the road.

AGREED to place a purchase order for sodium lights to be installed on the wharf. It was noted the order is being placed now so as to benefit from a sale price of $100.00 each being offered by Mass. Gas and Electric Light Supply Co. of New Bedford. The funds will have to be voted at the special town meeting in September.

Selectmen that Michael T. King, representing the company, offered to do a study of the lighting on the wharf at no cost to the town. His recommendation was to replace the present lights with sodium lights, which have a life-span of eight years and will cost about one-third less to operate than the present lights.

If the funds are not voted, the order can be cancelled, DeCosta added.

RECEIVED a copy of a letter sent to Manuel R. Nunes, Highway Surveyor, from Barry Denham, part owner of Denham and Son, contractors, noting "not once has his company been called for road-side cutting or other similar work".

Denham objected to having his company passed over in the assignment of hiring equipment by town departments. He asked that he be placed with other companies on a rotating basis assignment.

CABLE TV PROGRESS

Eric Schultz, manager of the American Cablesystems, met with Selectmen and members of the Cable Committee to keep them informed on progress of the extension of cable lines.

Schultz said everything would have been ready to go by the end of October but that the telephone company strike is now holding work back. He noted Brandt Island Road will be serviced first, followed by Point Connett.

In response to a question from the Cable Committee, Schultz replied his company has been looking into a financial-type of program. He noted some packaged programs are not on all day and that he was looking for a 24-hour package. He said he will continue to check into a financial program.

The manager asked Selectmen just what local events would you like to see covered? DeCosta, Suzan and James F. Huntoon responded, saying they would like to think about it and let him know.

NOISE COMPLAINT

Howard Bates of 9 Water Street, adjacent to the Mattapoisett Inn, voiced his complaint of loud noise emitting from the Inn area after the 1 a.m. closing. The worst time is from midnight to 2 p.m., Bates said, consisting mostly of loud hollering and horns honking.

Bates explained he has lost three tenants in the past year because of noise in the neighborhood. He added he has called

WHY "NO PARKING" SIGNS ON MECHANIC STREET

Mr. and Mrs. William Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Marvin of Mechanic Street and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Holden of Church Street met with the board to question why the no parking signs were being placed on Mechanic Street.

"You know we're angry, or we wouldn't be here," said Elsie Marvin. Her husband added "we are puzzled and would like one good reason why you did it."

DeCosta explained a 1968 vote of the Board of Selectmen designated no parking on Mechanic Street. There never were signs erected, but there should have been. The Selectmen are going through a process of reviewing all no parking areas and may reconsider some streets. All Selectmen stressed "we will get at it quickly."

Loretta M. Caswell, 18 Harbor Road, was drawn for Grand Jury duty on September 12 at Plymouth.

APPOINTED

Paul Silveria, 121 Brandt Island Road was appointed assistant shellfish warden.

WERE NOTIFIED:

The Marion Center for Human Services, Inc., 335 Wareham Road, Marion informed the Selectmen that they have been appointed the area agency for disbursement of Emergency Food and Shelter funds from September to December 1983.

A copy of the letter will be sent to George S. White, veterans' agent for Mattapoisett and Rochester.

Letters to the Editor

Because I have not been allowed to express myself at meetings of the Rochester Board of Selectmen, I have decided to come to this public forum with some of my views on this Board and their meetings.

For the past few weeks there has been much talk from several quarters about how to make the meetings more "orderly". The most recent "policy" of prohibiting anyone not on the agenda from speaking, which I would like to point out has only been used once to date, is a cheap shot at the people of Rochester. This says to me that the Selectmen feel that the town residents are the source of their problem. It gives the impression that we are, without reason or provocation, disrupting their meetings. Let's look at the rest of the picture.

If one traces the history of Rochester Selectmen's meetings back over the past five or six years, it will become evident that the quality of these meetings rapidly declined upon the election of Antonio Sol to this Board. Within the year of his election the rantings and ravings of Mr. Sol, which are now a hallmark of the meetings, began. Chairwoman Julia Enroth frequently recessed meetings and let him rail on, in the manner one would handle a child's temper tantrum. On one occasion she needed a police escort to get to her car after the meeting. Later she needed a policeman in attendance at the meetings. Mr. Sol's treatment of Conservation Commission Chairwoman Georgia Chamberlain has resulted in a lawsuit. Disorder has been an integral part of the meetings for a long time.

I feel the Rochester Board of Selectmen must clean up its own act before they look outside for scapegoats for their sad state. Chairman Walker apparently lacks the strength to use the traditional tools of parliamentary procedure and would really prefer that town residents stay home and, if they do attend, that they keep their mouths shut. The only advocate the people of Rochester have at this point is Selectman Hughes.

Therefore I appeal to the people of Rochester to attend the Monday night (7:15 p.m.) meetings of the Board of Selectmen. If enough people come forward, maybe they'll realize they are accountable to us, as taxpayers, for their actions; and, maybe they'll be forced to regularly hold the meetings in the Conference Room, and not in the closet-sized anteroom.

The strength of my feelings stems from the fact that in the admittedly small number of these meetings that I have attend-

Jenkins in Marion to Close

If there is an international link in this community it surely must be the lunch counter on the corner of Front and Cottage Streets in Marion, Mass. When Jenkins closes its doors upon the retirement of Herb and Prue Jenkins this link will remain active for years in the minds of men in Saudi Arabia, Brazil, Mexico, Japan, etc., men who in their youth attended Tabor Academy and regularly patronized the establishment they remember as Jenkins. I've witnessed personally on occasion the return of one of these world fans and they hold Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins in the high regard that one would have for adopted parents in a foreign town half a world away from home.

The memories of the Jenkins couple retain the names, the countries and personal anecdotes of boys the world over who have passed through their door over 40 or so years. Herb and Prue Jenkins have had a long run on their busy corner and not only local people will miss this friendly oasis. In addition to the Tabor boys worldwide, the summer yachting people have returned every season and have become confidants of the Jenkins over the years. There is a lot of information that can be exchanged over the bacon, eggs and coffee and the Jenkins couple are good listeners. From what I have been able to observe over many years of contact with small business people, the successful are the communicators with a deep interest in their friends who are the customers who come back to make a business a continuing enterprise.

Surely, everyone who has enjoyed this atmosphere over the years will wish Prue and Herb Jenkins the very best of whatever the future holds for them both with a hearty applause for their work which has both sustained the body and the contact of minds, enjoyed by all the patrons.

The Jenkins will retire to live in Plymouth, at least for a time. Mr. Jenkins, after a career in the newspaper business, opened the restaurant and gift shop in 1953. They have lived in Marion for 40 years. The Jenkins may decide to return to some interesting occupation after a period of freedom for both to enjoy.

TO PARENTS OF STUDENT ATHLETES AT THE OLD ROCHESTER REGIONAL SCHOOL DISTRICT

At its meeting of August 9, 1983, the Old Rochester Regional District School Committee voted to send the following letter to parents or guardians of student athletes at the District:

"Inasmuch as accidents do occur from time to time in athletic activities, the Old Rochester Regional District School Committee has been concerned that all participants be insured. Prior to this year, the Committee has accepted a waiver of rights and claims for damages against the District for any and all injuries incurred by students of those parents who already possessed private and/or group plan insurance.

However, at its meeting of June 28, 1983, the School Committee voted to require all athletes to carry the school insurance. The Committee has done this so as to insure speedy treatment without disappointment or misunderstanding about the financial liability arising from injuries. The School Committee has learned that some parents' insurance plans do not cover medical treatment provided by local physicians and emergency facilities. In asking that each parent provide the minimum school policy, both parent and committee are assured of adequate coverage for first aid services rendered by local physicians and hospitals. An additional advantage of the program is the benefit of the low group rate.

Information about the School Accident Insurance program, which costs $3.00 per person, may be obtained by calling the Old Rochester Regional High School office."

Mattapoisett Historical Society

The Mattapoisett Historical Society has had made a limited edition of cup plates to commemorate its 25th anniversary. These plates were designed by George C. Avila of Mattapoisett and have the ship "Acushnet" on them.

The "Acushnet" was built in Mattapoisett at the T.G. Barstow & Son yards in 1840 for the agents of Bradford and Fuller of Fairhaven. Herman Melville was a member of the crew of the "Acushnet" in 1843 and referred to the ship as "his Harvard and Yale". His knowledge of whaling was acquired while on the "Acushnet" and inspired the classic novel, "Moby Dick", which he wrote.

You can get your cup plate at the museum when you drop in to see the exhibit of Jay, as he is known to his family and friends, was one of only two contestants from Plymouth County. The son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Henderson, Jr., 4 Grand View Avenue, Mattapoisett, Jay has never had formal swimming lessons, but has progressed to his present award-winning ability by the combined efforts and encouragement of his parents and teachers.

His mother, Alison, especially gave credit to Rory McFee, Special Needs Instructor at Old Rochester Regional Junior High School, who sparked Jay's interest and got him involved in the Special Olympics. She also gave credit to Sheila Burchel, ORR Senior High School Special Needs Instructor, for her encouragement and interest.

Over 65,000 spectators cheered as the athletes competed in soccer, wheelchair, track, diving, field, swimming, basketball, gymnastics, volleyball, bowling, softball, floor hockey, poly-hockey and frisbee disc.

Benefit Softball

MATTAPOISETT 3 TEAM ACCEPTS INVITATION

On July 23 Mattapoisett 3 softball team received an invitation to the 12th annual Muscular Dystrophy Softball tournament held in Fairhaven at Livesey, Cushman, and Pope Parks.

The tournament is to benefit Muscular Dystrophy and there are 16 teams involved including 3 teams from the Boston area.

George Benoit is chairman and has been for 12 years; he has raised over $16,000 for M.D. over the past 12 years in this tournament.

Mattapoisett 3 is the only team out of the Capeway Softball League to be invited to this tournament. "This kind of softball is totally different to us, much faster, you have stealing and bunting. It will be a good experience for my ball players," said Manager Vin Walker.

The tournament lasts 3 days, August 26, 27 and 28 and costs $100.00 a team.

Umpires, balls, bases and lights for the field are all donated and the profit made by the concession stands will also go to M.D.

Mattapoisett 3 carries a 20-man roster at this time but they will only have to bring 18 players to abide by tournament rules. Manager Walker said that he will pick the 18 next week.

It's rumored that Mattapoisett 3's first game in the tournament will be against the 40 years and older players of the Livesey League.

The Lloyd Center is an excellent site for night-sky observation as there are very few artificial lights nearby and the rooftop, at 100 feet above sea level, provides an unobstructed view of the entire horizon.

Call the Center at 990-0505 for registration and meeting time. Group size is limited. Weekly walks at the Lloyd Center are open to the public and are free of charge. The Center's building, including a Resource Center/Library, salt-water aquaria, and a spectacular view of the Slocum River estuary, is open from 9-5 Tuesday through Sunday. The Center's ground and walking trails are open every day from dawn to dusk.

Sea Lavender- Caution, Please

Early August brings the flowering of one of the coastal region's most attractive plants, Sea Lavender (Limonium nashii). The tiny blossoms form a pale purple haze over the rich green salt marsh grasses as the plant produces the seeds necessary for propagation. Sea Lavender grows in a narrow band along the marsh, where it has adapted to tidal flooding, strong sunlight, and drying conditions at low tide.

Plants reproduce in two very general manners - through vegetative and sexual means. Vegetative reproduction occurs in diverse patterns including the use of runners and cuttings. Sexual reproduction occurs as a result of fertilization of an ovule in the plant's flower. Some plants undergo both methods, others are dependent on only one technique. Sea Lavender reproduces solely by the latter means. The seeds which result are the only way this plant can disperse to other locations suitable for its growth.

The Lloyd Center for Environmental Studies staff has noted the limited growing areas in the region where significant amounts of sea lavender are found. At this time of year nearly all of these protected and often privately owned areas are picked over for private or commercial use. The salt marsh ecosystem and the sea lavender are negatively impacted by this activity.

If flower heads are removed, then the ability of this plant to spread is reduced. Repeated harvest eliminates all the present year's seeds from the salt marsh environment, and may result in root damage if the flower stalks are torn up.

Intensive harvesting also shows its effects on other salt marsh plants. As pickers traverse the marsh, this foot traffic tramples the fragile marsh grasses. The functional importance of the salt marsh is a stabilizing force in controlling coastal erosion and as a nutrient source for the estuaries is negated.

To ensure the continuity of the salt marsh ecosystem in general, and the survival of Sea Lavender in particular, harvesting should be limited to a reasonable percentage of the flowering stalks. Each person needs to take a share in the responsibility of maintaining a quality environment. If you must pick sea lavender, please be sure to leave many flowering heads. It is best not to cut any so we may all enjoy the natural beauty of this plant in its native habitat.

would convert the orchestra pit into an extended playing area to bring performers closer to the audience for a more intimate feeling.

The outmoded rope and sandbag rigging system has been replaced with the newest in double purchase counterweight systems. New full-stage scenery can 'fly' easily out of audience view as 35 lines are currently available. The controlling pin-rail has been elevated 20 feet above the stage so not to interfere with other scenic elements.

The enhancement of the Zeiterion Theatre's lighting system, begun in Phase I restoration, will be completed in Phase II. The total installation of 72 stage dimmers and 18 house light dimmers and the full complement of over 200 lighting instruments, two Xenon Follow Spots, and a computerized memory lighting control board will make the Zeiterion technically equal to a majority of American theatres.

Michael Guy, Zeiterion Technical Director, is equally excited about the theatre's new three-way Tri-Amp Sound System controlled by a 16 channel master panel. Carefully hidden Myers speakers, concealed in the old vaudeville act announcers, and the Yamaha Amplifier/Mixer is similar to most Broadway systems.

New dressing rooms beneath the stage will have the capacity of 52 lighted mirror positions. The performers' area will consist of a Star dressing room, and separate principal and chorus dressing rooms. The area will also have the traditional 'green room', or actor's waiting area, and is completely air conditioned.

on Thursday through Saturday, August 18-20 at 8:30 p.m. each evening. The production is being brought back to New Bedford by popular demand after a successful run at New Bedford High School this past spring. Costumes, lighting, sets and stage effects, plus a cast of 36 young people will bring Superstar to life as the only Broadway musical on the Zeiterion's summer schedule.

This milestone modern musical treatment of this deeply religious theme received enthusiastic public accolades when staged this past Spring by the New Bedford High School Drama Club. The Zeiterion production has retained the major leads of the Spring production to recreate their demanding roles. Michael McGrath will portray a "serene, yet powerful" Jesus; Robert Andrade will be a "lithe, aggressive, enigmatic" Judas; and Lisa Andrade will play an "attractive, magnificent voiced" Mary Magdalene. Janice MacDonald will recreate her outstanding choreography; Cassandra Morgan will supervise the demanding vocals; and Don Vasconcelles will assume the duties of musical director. George T. Charbonneau and Armand R. Marchand will again co-direct with the flair that made this production one of the most talked about theatrical presentations in recent years.

Covering the last seven days in the life of Christ, Jesus Christ Superstar is a telling account of the agonized betrayal of Judas, the trials of Christ before Pilate and Herod, the confused emotions of Mary Magdalene, and the actual crucifixion of Christ. With music and lyrics by Andrew Lloyd Webber and Tim Rice, the creators of Evita, Cats, and Joseph and The Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat, Superstar is a Rock Opera that appeals to all musical tastes. Its driving rhythms, beautiful flowing melodies, and triumphal and exciting orchestral backgrounds have made Jesus Christ Superstar a world-wide musical smash since its creation in the early 1970's.

A special Young People's presentation entitled 'The Making of a Musical: Jesus Christ Superstar' will be offered Friday, August 19th, at 10 a.m. This unique look at special scenes from Superstar and how a musical presentation is put together from initial choreography to finished product will entertain and educate our young theatregoers.

Wooden Boat Show

The Wooden Boat Show in Newport, Rhode Island opens Thursday, August 18th, with over 130 exhibitors from all over the country displaying the finest in wooden rowing, power and sail craft. In addition, boat building demonstrations, seminars, accessories for sale, woodcarving and the Concours d'Elegance, the gathering of fine wooden yachts, are a part of the four-day event. Held at the Newport Yachting Center, the show runs through Sunday, August 21, and is open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily.

Two very fine, but very different, yachts will share the spotlight as this year's main attractions. Phil Long's new Whitefin reveals state of the art technology in West System cold molding. This 90 foot sloop with a 136 foot mast will make even the 12 meters seem small in comparison. The traditional yacht Ring Anderson, on the other hand, will give the public a privileged view of the capability of Scandinavian boat building. Having just been completely rebuilt at Ring Ander-

In contrast to the grace and elegance of yachts both large and small, the SIKA Challenge Cup returns this year with new builders and new designs. To this quick and dirty boat building competition has been added the capability for speed under sail. When the boats are built and they start their triangular course on Sunday afternoon in Newport harbor, the race will rival the finals of the real America's Cup.

Barking Up the Wrong Tree

Recently President Reagan proposed new appointments to the United States Commission on Civil Rights. Those opposed to everything the current administration espouses immediately began angry denunciation of the appointments and threatened a bitter fight.

Most of those against confirmation of the new commission members have two areas of concern. First, they point out that some minority members are being replaced with, heaven forbid, white males. The other reason for confrontation is that those to be considered for these sensitive positions do not appreciate the importance of racial quotas. This is reflected in their lack of enthusiasm for school busing.

The fact, however, is that the opposition, formed for the most part in the liberal branch of the Democratic Party, is barking up the wrong tree. Before its members really studied the background of the three appointees, they opened their mouths and inserted their feet.

Let's take a honest look at the three people chosen by the president for the Civil Rights Commission. As commissioner, the president proposes John Bunzel, a well-known supporter of the democratic policies of Kennedy and Humphrey. Bunzel, former president of San Jose State University in California, is a longtime civil rights advocate.

A second appointee is Robert Destro, an assistant professor of law at the Catholic University of America and a former general counsel to the Catholic League for Religious and Civil Rights.

The final choice is Morris Abram, a past president of Brandeis University, the American Jewish Committee and the United Negro College Fund.

One should also mention that the president chose Linda Chavey as staff director for the commission. Chavey is a liberal of long standing, an assistant to none other than Albert Shanker, president of the American Federation of Teachers.

It would seem these appointments should make liberals and civil rights advocates happy. However, seemingly they are not. Perhaps they realize that the president has stolen some of their thunder.

To many, the chief executive's great weakness has been in the area of civil rights. One remembers that his earlier appointment to the Civil Rights Commission had to be withdrawn because some described his choice as lacking competence and commitment. The Democrats made much of this and had hoped that the matter could be used effectively in the 1984 election campaign.

But the new appointments have confounded the president's opponents. This time, instead of what some said were right wingers, President Reagan is proposing four liberal Democrats with proven liberal civil rights records. The Democratic senators are caught in a dilemma and not one seems willing to take this bull by the horns.

What all this mans is that a lot of people are playing politics with volatile and emotional issues. For some the situation might mean an extra vote or two; but in general, it could inflame feelings and exacerbate hurts already surrounding the civil rights issue.

If the Democratic Party uses these new appointments as a tool for campaign strategy, perhaps it really does not want to participate in the '84 election.

AMEN, AMEN, AMEN.
